President To Ask New High In Tax; Individual Rates To Carry Load

$16.5 Billion Total Sought By Truman

Fourth Of Wages Would Be Taken

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Individuals and corporations braced themselves today for a presidential request which will boost tax rates to the highest levels in American history.

Individuals will be hardest hit in the special tax message which President Truman plans to send to Congress tomorrow.

Mr. Truman will recommend passage of a "quickie" tax bill designed to raise $10 billion more a year, to be followed later by a "second installment" of about $6.5 billion.

This would put the government on a pay-as-you-go basis, balance the budget, and do away with an estimated $16.5 billion deficit for the 1952 fiscal year which opens July 1.

THE PRESIDENT will ask for another $7 billion a year from the individual taxpayers—$4 billion in personal income taxes and $3 billion more in excise taxes paid by consumers on goods and services.

This will bring to almost $10 billion the new taxes on individuals since the Korean war broke out. A personal income tax hike of $2.7 billion went into effect last Oct. 1.

The President will ask for a four percentage point across-the-board boost in individual income taxes, raising the present minimum from 20 to 24 percent and the maximum from 91 to 95 percent.

The President will ask for an eight percentage point rise in the corporation rate, boosting it from 47 to 55 percent to bring in another $3 billion annually.

The highest wartime rate in 1945, on individual incomes was 23 to 94 percent. Congressional (Continued on Page Two)

Only Overcoat Clothes Man

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1—Cincinnati Delicatessen Owner John Walsh, 43, chattered his way home nearly nude through three blocks of near zero temperatures and blinding snow early today when two men beat and robbed him of money and clothes.

Walsh was in his shop when one robber slugged him and the other choked him into unconsciousness. The two thugs stripped him of his clothes, took $45 and left.

Walsh managed to find an overcoat in the store, donned it and struggled home to call the police.

'WE CAN DO THE JOB'

Ike's Optimistic Report Given Solons On Europe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower told Congress today that the defense of Western Europe is essential for the protection of Democracy and that "we can do the job."

The supreme commander of Western European defense forces presented an optimistic report to an informal joint session of the Senate and House in the Library of Congress on his three-week tour of Europe.

He stressed the need for co-operation from our Western European allies, but declared he had found a "rejuvenation of spirit" among the Europeans to "lead the lives of free men, do their part and take the risk."

Eisenhower declared that the United States cannot "pick up the world on its shoulders," but must have cooperation with other nations and "remain solvent" at home.

He gave this summary of the attitude he found in Europe: "It would be false to say that there does not exist in many strata a pessimism that borders on defeat. But likewise there is evident a rejuvenated growth of determination,

LONG LEGAL BATTLE ENDS

UN Formally Labels Red China As An Aggressor

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 1—The 60-member United Nations General Assembly formally condemned Red China as an aggressor today, by overwhelming vote.

Brushing aside general debate, the assembly voted by 44 to 7 for an American resolution. There were nine abstentions. The seven negatives were Russia, the Ukraine, Bielo-Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Burma and India.

The UN Political Committee gave an identical vote on the same issue Tuesday, except that Saudi Arabia refused to vote. Today, President Entezam refused this procedure and Saudi Arabia abstained.

The nine abstentions were Afghanistan, Egypt, Indonesia, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Sweden, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia.

Assembly President Entezam announced he will immediately set up the three-man "good offices" committee to make new and last peace overtures to Peiping.

HE STRESSED that it is up to Communist Chief Mao Tse-tung to "take advantage of the United Nations desire to negotiate."

Entezam added: "It is clear from the final paragraph in the American resolution that United Nations has not closed the doors to negotiation and a peaceful settlement of Far East problems. That, indeed, was the intention of Lebanon's amendment as accepted by the United States."

"In accord with your decision, I shall hasten to establish the good offices committee. Now it is up to other parties to take advantage of our desire to negotiate. I hope the negotiations will be fruitful."

Acting swiftly despite Soviet bloc delaying maneuvers after the Arab-Asia group of twelve abandoned demands for a seven-power conference with Peiping, the assembly ended a historic diplomatic battle. For over 12 weeks the issue of Red aggression in Korea rocked world capitals and for a time caused a dangerous split in Anglo-American unity.

The assembly's action was taken at Lake Success only 36 hours after the political committee recommended adoption of the American resolution embodying the condemnation of Red China. It prescribes first of all the final attempt by the United Nations to achieve a peaceful settlement with Mao on Korea and other Far East problems.

A parallel step outlined in the approved resolution is the study of sanctions by members of the collective measures committee in the event Mao finally rejects UN peace overtures and continues his defiance through continued fighting in Korea.

THE ASSEMBLY'S decision was taken after the Soviet bloc of Russia, Poland, the Ukraine, (Continued on Page Two)

FRIDAY, Feb. 2, is Groundhog Day and the none-too-handsome animal above is to be given top honors. According to legend, Mr. Groundhog is to come out of his hole. If he sees his shadow, he will scamper back into his burrow and we will have six more weeks of Winter. If the sun does not shine, Mr. Groundhog sees no image of himself, then all is well—Spring is just around the corner. Legend-peddlers have no answer in the event Mr. Groundhog comes out of his hole—but is walking in his sleep. Nor were they sure Thursday that Mr. Groundhog could even find his way out of his burrow with all the snow.

12,000 MILES TO CLEAR NAME

Civilian Reaches Korean Front, Wanting To Fight

IN KOREA, Feb. 1—An American civilian walked into a front line command post in Western Korea today and said he had made a 12,000-mile trip from New York to "clear my name of the taint of Communism."

William Jesse Newton of Temple City, Cal., strolled into the command post of the 27th Regimental Combat Team of U. S. 25th Division and told two officers his amazing story.

Newton said he is the man who landed a seaplane along the Polish-Lincoln Battery off Long Island last August and was picked up by the ship and taken to England. FBI agents nabbed him on his arrival at Southampton.

After his release by the FBI in New York, Newton said he hitch-hiked a plane ride to the west coast where he shipped out for Japan aboard an Army transport as a civilian crewman. He said he then hitched another plane ride from an airfield near Tokyo to Korea where he made his way up to the fighting front.

In explaining his trip to Korea, Newton said: "Though the government's case against me was never continued, everybody said I was a Communist. So when I was released from custody in New York in December I decided to come to Korea to kill Communists just to let people know how I like them."

The regimental commander who acknowledged his identity to Newton was Col. John Michaelis, a hero of the early Korean fighting in the Pusan perimeter. Newton, a slim wiry young man, was dressed in a GI shirt and trousers.

"I want to enlist in your regiment as a private," he told Michaelis. "I want to kill some Communists."

Men at the command post were flabbergasted.

It was probably as strange an incident as ever has happened in this strange war.

Newton stood there pouring forth his story in gusts of emotion and Michaelis told him his regiment always was ready to welcome recruits who are willing to shoulder a rifle.

Newton said: "I've come all the way to clear my name. The government has dropped all charges against me, but still does not put me in the clear. For the sake of my wife, I have got to show everybody that I am a loyal American citizen willing to do my share in stopping the Communists."

As a result of the seaplane escapade, Newton said he spent four months in detention of the FBI. He said that it was during this time that he got the idea to (Continued on Page Two)

Local Soldier Given Award

Corp. Walter E. Brungs, son of Mrs. Eva Brungs of Circleville Route 2, was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman's Badge for his "satisfactory performance of duty in ground combat against the armed enemy in Korea."

Brungs' unit made two amphibious landings and they were the only United States troops to reach the Manchurian border. Later, they took part in the successful evacuation of the Hungnam beachhead, the largest water evacuation in American military history.

Poor Ol' Mr. Groundhog; Debut To Be Fouled Up

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—Unless the Ohio groundhog has some A-1 snow-removal equipment at his disposal, chances are he isn't going to be able to foretell the end of Winter tomorrow.

Caught in the wake of a relentless cold wave, which hurled a sub-zero temperatures, freezing rain, sleet and snow at most of the nation, the groundhogs are buried today beneath tons of record breaking snows.

Following snow depths were recorded today: Cleveland, 9 inches; Dayton, 6; Columbus 4; Canton 7; Youngstown 5; Cincinnati 6; Toledo 8; Zanesville 3; Findlay 7; Mansfield 6, and Parkersburg 2.

And, according to the weatherman, Old Man Winter is not finished, not by a long shot.

Winter struck a crippling blow to transportation in many Ohio cities early today and the weatherman said another one-to-four inches of snow is expected to hit the state during the rest of the day.

BRISK WINDS are due to add to the plight of motorists and pedestrians alike, piling up accumulated snow in drifts.

Highs today will vary in the twenties followed by lows tonight between zero and five above.

Tomorrow will continue cloudy and cold, with snow again in east and north portions.

The state highway patrol warned motorists that sleet and snow made driving hazardous throughout Ohio. It was pointed out that freezing rain late yesterday, topped with an early morning snow, made highway conditions unpredictable.

Many schools in the state, closed earlier by the ice conditions, have been closed because of snow. City schools generally were open, but rural schools were forced to shut down.

Intercity buses and trains were reported off schedule from one to five hours.

Throughout Ohio the weather story varied little.

In Athens County, seven out of ten schools were closed.

Some 2,000 workers were furloughed by the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp. in Newark because of a gas shortage. Most Miami Valley schools closed.

Scioto County rural schools were ordered closed last night. Superintendent E. R. McCowen said they would remain closed until the weather is better.

OVERNIGHT SNOWS established a new three-month record of 43 inches in Dayton where the superintendent of city streets, Charles Horlacher, collapsed from overwork.

The previous Dayton record of 38.7 inches of snow was set in the Winter of 1917-18.

The only part of the country still enjoying mild weather today is Florida and Southern Georgia. Miami's early morning temperature was 72.

The weatherman said some moderation is expected today in (Continued on Page Two)

Meetings Postponed

Foul Weather Bringing Delays

Someone once said, "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody does anything about it."

But in Circleville they are doing something because of the weather—canceling meetings.

From all over Pickaway County, word has come of this or that being called off because of the onslaught of rain, sleet, and snow. Wind has pinned the population close to the home fires.

Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Welfler planned for 2 p. m. Friday in Mader Funeral Chapel have been tentatively delayed until 2 p. m. Saturday.

Deercreek Garden Club scheduled for Thursday in Deercreek Township school has been indefinitely postponed.

The 4-H advisory school, which was to have been held in Circleville First Methodist church, is canceled until in March.

Members of Child Culture League will announce a later date for their meeting which was planned for Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Melvin of East Franklin street.

Mrs. Clark Will, director, has postponed the Thursday evening choir practice of Circleville Presbyterian church and will announce the date of the next session.

Mrs. Robert Wood, president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Circleville First Methodist church canceled the general meeting scheduled for Thursday afternoon in the Methodist parsonage. There will be a board meeting of the Women's (Continued on Page Two)

Additional White Stuff Is Expected

All Schools Shut Balance Of Week

Pickaway County's lingering memory of "the big snow of 1950" was beginning to grow dimmer Thursday as it looked into the teeth of "the big snow of 1951."

Old Man Winter paid another forceful visit to the county to perform, opening with an overture of sleet late Wednesday and following with a deluge of snow.

Circleville Weather Observer James I. Smith reported a total snowfall of nine inches for late Wednesday and Thursday until noon, threatening last Thanksgiving's total weekend snowfall of about 13 inches.

And the weather cast for Thursday and Friday calls for more snow but in lighter portions.

The weatherman predicted Thursday:

"Snow, changing to snow flurries by night. Colder tonight and much colder in southeast portion. Low tonight near zero in west portion and five above in east portion. Friday, partly cloudy and cold with snow flurries in northeast portion."

CITY, COUNTY and state workmen were routed out early Thursday to begin fighting the heavy layer of snow which blanketed the county.

An early start by the workmen, coupled with the experience learned in the last big snow, aided the highway workmen in keeping up with the situation.

Schools in both Circleville and Pickaway County have been closed by the snow. Both systems will remain closed until Monday.

Police Chief William F. McCrady, remembering snarled traffic conditions of the last snow, issued an edict to motorists Thursday:

"Only emergency cars will be allowed on downtown streets," he said. "All others will be towed in."

Backing up the chief's statement, Mayor Thurman I. Miller advised that cars will be moved (Continued on Page Two)

IT HAS BEEN LOTS WORSE

Old-Timers' 'Real Winter' Tales Upheld By Records

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—The weatherman stuck to his guns today, contending that Ohio has seen far worse Winters than this 1950-1951 season.

Ted Pierce, the fellow who samples the weather in Columbus, said the Winter up to February is not as bad as it was in years before.

Of course, he said he could not predict what the February weather would be and therefore, would provide the facts and figures for November, December and January.

In general, the weatherman agreed with the "old timer's" stories of "real" Winters of bygone eras.

Pierce said that although the exact figures will vary at different points in the state but will show "as nearly as possible" that Ohio's Winter weather "isn't the same as it was back there in '17 or '18."

THE ONE POINT where Pierce disagrees with the elders is the snowfall for November. The "big snow" around Thanksgiving, Pierce said, was the biggest November snow in history.

Pierce, who, along with thousands of others in Ohio, was marooned by the "big snow," said Columbus recorded 14.3 inches, while other weather stations measured as much as 33 inches.

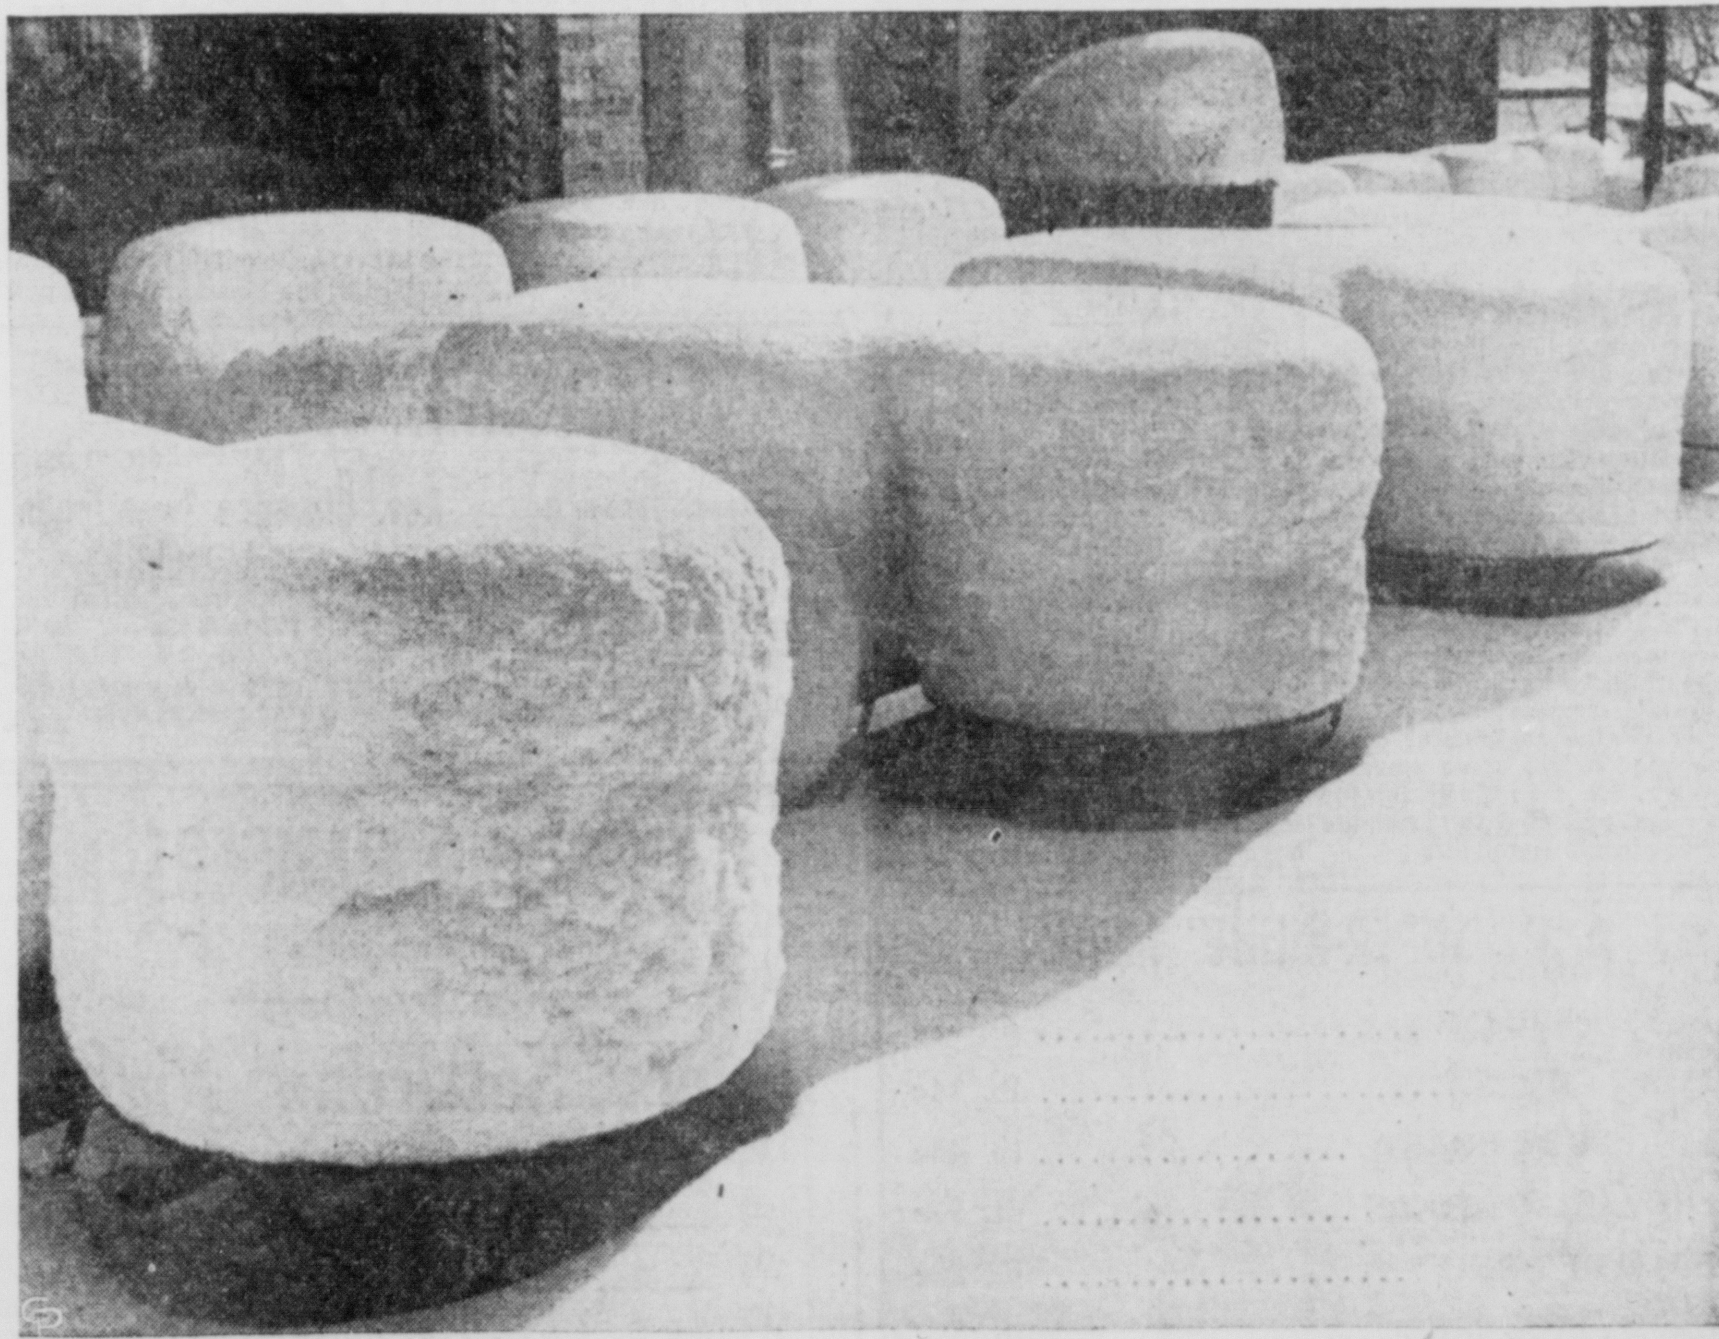

And, he readily admits, November was second coldest November in history. The average temperature for November, 1950, was 38.1 while the coldest was November, 1910, with an average of 37.

However, the balancing of the temperatures for November, December and January shows a mild Winter so far.

The average temperature for the three months is 32.8 degrees, as compared with a 25.8 for the Winter of 1917-1918.

The month of December had a "fair" amount of snow, according to Pierce, and January had but a "trace." He said December's average temperature was "just about average" and January's unseasonable warm days balanced out the cold days to make it above normal.

SO YOU THINK we got another big snow, eh? Glance at the photo above. No, those are not marshmallows; they're snow-covered tables in an open air restaurant in Davos, Switzerland.

And the natives there say such a snowfall is "normal." They say it just snows about that much every Winter season and three-foot depths are considered to be "ordinary."

Additional White Stuff Is Expected

from curbs in downtown Cleveland, if necessary by tow-truck.

Pickaway Counties were advised Thursday to be especially careful and guard against fires in their homes.

Fire Chief Palmer Wise pointed out that, although the fire trucks are equipped with chains, some parts of the county will be inaccessible because of drifts and ice base under the snow.

RURAL MAIL carriers also were forced to abandon their routes for the second time this winter because of the snow, while the city carriers waded through the snow in an effort to make deliveries.

"We sent our men out Thursday to try to deliver," Assistant Postmaster Leon VanVleet reported. "The younger men kept at it doggedly, although our older men were forced to give it up."

"We will be able to deliver better if the home owners will sweep their walks," he pointed out.

Bus operations between Columbus and Cleveland continued Thursday, although far behind schedule, while south-bound bus transportation was shut off entirely.

"It's much worse toward Chillicothe according to the drivers," said Norman Ritter, bus agent, here.

Many persons commuting between Cleveland and Columbus elected to travel via train early Thursday instead of by bus because of the possibility of blocked traffic.

Although Thursday's snowfall was deep it lacked the whipping winds which piled the snow up in heavy drifts last Thanksgiving.

DEPUTY SHERIFF Carl Radcliff said the highways outside Cleveland were "bad," but that the light, fluffy snow had not begun to drift too badly.

Unlike the last big snow, when thousands of persons returning from the OSU-Michigan football game were stranded, no motorists had been reported stranded as of noon Thursday.

Pitching in again to help unsmash the traffic situation were Cleveland's National Guard unit and the many local wreckers which cleared the highways the last time.

Apparently undecided as to which way is better, some of the snowplows passing through Cleveland have pitched their blades to turn the snow toward the center, others toward the snow toward the curbs.

Some extra equipment was hired Thursday morning by Pickaway County Engineer Henry T. McCrady to help clear snow from county roads.

He said most of the roads were passable during the morning, "but only the weatherman can tell you what might develop later."

McCrady added that the equipment hired was in distant corners of the county.

"We told the owners to start clearing the roads in the distant sections because if the snow continues, the roads might get impassable before we could get there with our own equipment," he explained.

Gallery Job Finished Before Latest Snow

Contractors installing the new Cleveland water gallery were a jump ahead of the weather this time.

Ervin Leist, city water department manager, said that when the second big snow of the winter struck Wednesday, the gallery job was finished.

Since the start of the job late last summer, the contractors had been forced to move equipment out five times because of flood and weather conditions.

"All that's left now," said Leist, "is a cleaning up job. The contractors have removed the pumps and well points and are back filling the ditch now."

The pumps and well points were used to drain excess water out of the gallery in order that employees could continue to work.

Leist said that water pressure in Cleveland mains has been returned to normal—50 to 51 pounds. During construction of the gallery the pressure was maintained at between 40 and 45 pounds.

"I am a commercial pilot and when I got to Japan I thought it might be a good idea to get into the Korean air force. They were delighted to have me. I got a commission as a colonel, but the American officer in charge refused to have me."

Newton said he then went to Tachikawa Airforce field near Tokyo where he hitched a ride to Pusan in Southeast Korea and then hopped another plane north to Taegu.

Old-Timers' 'Real Winter' Tales Upheld By Records

Pierce said there have been no November snows to touch on the 1950 fall. The record November snowfall up until this winter was 7.5 inches in 1913 and 6.9 inches in 1886.

DECEMBER'S SNOWFALL of 7.1 inches was little compared to the December months of years gone by. In 1917 there was 14.5 inches of snow in December.

Following his pet theory that the 1917-1918 winter was "about the worst," Pierce pointed out that January of 1918 had 25.4 inches of snow, compared to only 1.8 inches this January. The January, 1918, snowfall is the record still to be broken.

The average temperature in December, 1950, was 26.7 degrees, a cold month but still above the winter of 1917-18 when the average was 21.3 degrees. Other years were higher but the majority hovered about the 1950 average mark.

This January was the "stay of execution" for winter-bored folk. The average temperature of 32.6 was four degrees above normal. It could have been warmer—40.3 degrees in January 1932, or colder—15.8 degrees in 1918 or nearly the same 32.2 degrees in 1946.

But, as the weatherman says, this winter has been "pretty mild" compared to some of the others.

Commissioners Give Nod To Road Extension

Pickaway County commissioners Tuesday gave the nod to construct a lane from South Washington street extension west to U. S. Route 23 by approving damage claims totalling $3,525.

A proposal to extend South Pickaway street to the lane was shoved aside temporarily when the county chief rejected a damage claim for $3,500 submitted by John Shelton.

The claims approved were submitted by Gwendolyn Crites and Laura Lutz. The Crites claim was for $3,325, of which $2,500 is for land, $500 for damages and $325 for a fence. The Lutz claim is for $200.

Vote on the matter was two to one, with Commissioner's Harley Mace and John Keller voting in favor and Commissioner William Goode voting against it.

Last Dec. 31 the commissioners voted approval of the proposed lane and extension of South Pickaway street, but made no provision for financing it.

Bielo-Russia and Czechoslovakia charged the United States with engineering the war in Korea. The bloc also said that the American resolution is bound to lead to new conflict in the Far East.

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb warned against hasty sanctions and emphasized that the British government stands for exhaustive and immediate peace soundings with Peiping.

The Arab-Asia bloc, led by Fawzi Bey of Egypt and India's Sir Benegal Rau, failed to re-introduce its previously defeated resolution for a seven-power peace conference. But the group again voiced its opposition to the U.S. resolution.

Rau reiterated his belief that the assembly's condemnation closed doors to further negotiations with Red China and that global war might result.

Entezam is charged with selecting two other members to constitute a "good offices" committee for exhausting all possibilities of peace in Korea on United Nations terms.

Once his group reports failure, the assembly can call for a report on sanctions from the collective measures group.

Entezam wants Rau of India and Canadian Foreign Minister

Lester B. Pearson as his "good offices" associates. Both were members of the unsuccessful cease-fire group and leaders in the recent "go slow" movement in dealings with Red China. They are reluctant to accept the new capacity, and may be replaced by others such as Lebanon, Australia, Pakistan or Saudi Arabia.

tax experts said the President's recommendations would also, if adopted, boost the overall corporation rates to a new high.

It is understood the President will also ask that the federal tax on gasoline be doubled—from the present 1.5 cents per gallon to three cents per gallon. The tax on liquor would go up from $9 a gallon to $12.

THE INDIVIDUAL income tax rate is now 20 percent on the first $2,000 of taxable income, after all exemptions and deductions have been made. The rate then climbs to 22 percent on the next $2,000, and to 25, 30, 34 percent and so on for each subsequent $2,000. The tax reaches 91 percent above $200,000.

The $3 billion boost in corporation rates will be on top of the $1.6 billion rise voted last September and the $3.3 billion excess profits tax approved Jan. 1.

Whether Congress will agree to boost taxes so high is problematical. It is anticipated that a great economy drive will ensue in an effort to cut the President's estimated $71.6 billion expenditures for the new fiscal year.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—A Columbus bus operator put up a kick when a would-be bandit approached him and, in so doing, saved his money.

In 18 of the past 20 years, the government has spent more money than it took in.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Director

Great Britain took the lead today in European rearmament with a huge new budgetary increase and sweeping mobilization plans which may spur continental measures which have not yet been put in motion.

Prime Minister Attlee announced in the House of Commons that defense expenditures for the next three years will be $13.16 billion, an increase of $3.08 billion over that provided for in the budget of August, 1950.

And in a move which seems certain to allay some continental fears, Attlee said that all concentration will be on "active defense" and that there is no intention of increasing civil defense for the moment.

Charges have been made time and again in France and elsewhere that Britain is interested only in self-protection.

England has been pictured as merely defending herself, erecting a radar detection chain around the home islands, digging bombproof shelters and doing everything else that is possible to prevent war damage at home.

THIS THE BRITISH government has denied persistently. The new plans outlined by Attlee would seem to vindicate the British position.

The increased expenses are, as a matter of fact, a challenge to the continent, which remains divided on many issues vital to defense.

The problem of Germany, for example, remains unsolved.

Social Democratic Leader Dr. Kurt Schumacher, who has won election victory on German opposition to rearmament, has again protested against the plan favored by Premier Rene Pleven of France and which he presumably has explained to President Truman in Washington.

Fundamentally, this would limit German participation in a European army to regimental combat team strength. Of this proposal Schumacher said:

"This would merely give Germany a second class army with a first class opportunity to shed its blood."

The deputy French high commissioner for Germany said last week that Schumacher and his followers are actually mistaken in their interpretation of the Pleven plan.

He insists that the Germans will be treated on a basis of full equality and that if armed divisions are formed in other European countries, divisions will be created in Germany as well.

BUT SCHUMACHER and his Social Democrats are far from convinced and it seems inevitable that if Germans are drafted for military service on terms they do not like, the result will be an unwilling army of little effectiveness in European defense.

Holland continues unenthusiastic about rearmament. Army Chief of Staff Gen. Henrich Kruls, who favored a more realistic defense plan than that drafted by the government, was forced out of office.

The cabinet then resigned also. But Former Foreign Minister Dirk U. Stikker has been asked by Queen Juliana to look into the possibility of forming a new one that is acceptable to parliament.

This probably means that he will come up with a new government that contains many of the former officials who have yet to be convinced that Holland's safety is contingent upon full-scale mobilization and rearmament.

In France and Italy, Communist protests against rearmament are growing in scope and strength and the propagandists of Moscow are doing all they can to encourage apathy and defeatism.

More will be known about Europe's troubles and what she may be able to do in the matter of defense after Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower reports formally on his recent mission to Europe. Best information is that while he is not actually discouraged, he sees a good many obstacles to clear before rearmament can be

Circus Actor Is Honor Student

The Summer of 1948 she danced in Olson and Johnson's "Laffacade." The next Summer she travelled with the Radio City Rockettes as captain of the chorus line.

achieved and public enthusiasm keyed to the necessity for sacrifices.

Britain has surely set an example.

If the continental nations should respond in kind, Eisenhower's task would be immeasurably simplified.

Looking Ahead

By George Benson
President
Harding College

Surveys have been made which show that the various phases of the Harding College National Education Program are reaching a combined audience of about 25,000,000 people every week.

A heartening compensation for those of us who work in directing and operating this widespread effort on behalf of maintaining the American way of life is the contents of the mail that flows in from all sections of the nation and from all kinds of people.

More and more people are beginning to put their minds to work on the national issues which once seemed so remote but which now have begun to be recognized, properly, as affecting the future life, liberty and happiness of everyone.

Nothing gives me greater encouragement than a letter from someone who is sincerely struggling with these national problems, or who has arrived at a personal conviction and is willing to back up that conviction with high moral courage.

Such a letter recently came to my desk. Whatever we may think of the writer's expressed convictions, the fact that he is actually grappling with problems that concern us all and the high moral quality of his citizenship, ought to be a strengthening tonic for everyone. That's the chief reason I'm passing it along.

"THIS MORNING, while working about the house," he wrote, "I heard your radio program—the story about the Lebanon immigrant who found opportunity and happiness in this country, and I decided to write to you concerning my views on this economic struggle which is approaching. I am a school teacher and coach, having a very modest income. Recently we teachers received a communication on which were a series of questions we were asked to answer. One question asked whether we would like to have a substantial increase in salary. An amount was mentioned that would make any teacher's heart flutter. If we were opposed to this nice salary increase, we were asked to register our opposition."

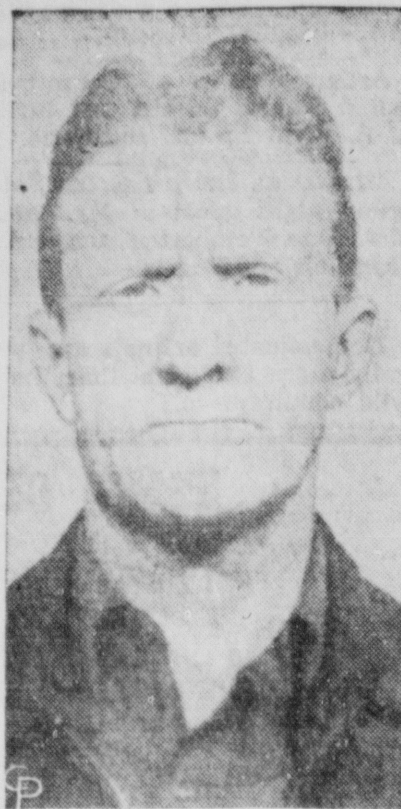

"The State Legislature was to convene soon and the survey going throughout the state to all teachers was to accumulate their opinions on the matter and seek to justify a request for additional funds."

"The fear is that teachers will again begin to leave for war work in war industries. Such a possibility is not in my mind as I am a member of the Air Force Reserve and probably will have another tour of duty. But I was opposed to the salary increase and as far as I know I have been the only teacher in our system who is opposed."

"The point, now, of my letter is to make the suggestion that somewhere, some place, the people of the U. S. should face reality and realize that if our ruinous spending continues we are apt to end up as the Roman Empire, victorious in every war but a decadent civilization, ruined economically. In your position you have a voice and perhaps if enough people voice their feelings to your voice or pen can do something in high places that I, as an individual, can't."

"WHY DOESN'T THE government conscript labor and pay the same as to service men? Why not begin to roll back some prices? Why not begin to roll back Army and other pay, especially in the officer rank (I am commissioned officer)? Why can't the American people be made to feel that war is not the time to make money or live as usual? Why not get us all mobilized, pull in our belts and realize that Democratic victories are not apt to continue forever unless we all sacrifice?"

"How, in the face of pictures and releases coming from Korea, showing and telling of hapless millions of starving, migrating, freezing people, can conscious and conscientious Americans who profess to

REA Chieftain Gives Warning

CLEVELAND, Feb. 1—Millions of members of rural electrification cooperatives are being warned to take political action in order to survive the threat of acquisition by private power interests.

The warning note was sounded at the opening session of the annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association in Cleveland.

Clyde T. Ellis, executive manager of the association, told 3,000 delegates to the four-day meeting that court suits brought by power companies to test the right of the REA to grant loans to co-ops "present one of the most dangerous threats to the rural electrification program in the 15 years of its existence."

he Christians, demand more and more.

"Let's pull in our belts and go to work—sensibly."

This is the kind of soul-searching and willingness to sacrifice that our country can stand a lot of. And his act of writing the letter, however debatable may be its contents, is fulfillment of one of the truly important demands of American citizenship. As an individual he can be influential in "high places." Such sober thoughtful letters are the kind that influence the acts of our elected public officials.

Peiping Claims Planes Downed

TOKYO, Feb. 1—The Peiping radio claims that North Korean anti-aircraft fire downed three American war planes on the west coast of Korea last Wednesday.

A broadcast, heard in Tokyo, asserted that one U. S. fighter plane, one combat-reconnaissance Sandra Sue Karshner and Joan Taylor were Sunday guests of Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Welch of Wellston.

Mr. and Mrs. Nola Sowers of the Narrows were visiting friends in Laurelville Friday.

sance aircraft and a light bomber were shot down. The bomber, the broadcast said, caught fire and crashed in the vicinity of Suwon.

1950 Ohio Retail Sales Up 10 Pct.

Dollar Volume Hits All-Time Record

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31—Sales of Ohio retailers in 1950 mounted 10 percent over the 1949 level, according to the Ohio Retail Analyst, publication of Ohio State university's Bureau of Business Research.

James C. Yocum, Analyst editor, reported in the January issue that dollar volume of sales rolled up by Ohio retailers in 1950 set a new all-time record.

The monthly index of Ohio retail sales compiled by the Bureau of Business Research averaged 26.4 percent of the 1935-1939 average. This was six percent higher than the previous peak in 1945.

"The record volume in 1950 was largely achieved in the second half of the year," Yocum reported, "although, on a seasonally adjusted basis, aggregate sales in the first six months were not as weak as sometimes believed."

IN JULY AND August, however, and again in December, extraordinary consumer buying of all types of goods, and particularly of durables, shot sales to new heights for those months."

In December, the sales index went to 342 for a new record holiday trade, he said. December, 1950, sales were 14 percent above December, 1949, and nine percent above the previous all-time December peak in 1948.

For the year 1950, nearly all types of Ohio retail business showed gains above the previous year. Largest increases, 25 to 27 percent, were experienced by motor vehicle dealers, lumber and building materials dealers and household appliance stores.

Department stores had a five percent increase. Shoe

Ohio College Professors OK Acheson Policy

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—One hundred twenty-eight professors and instructors from nine Ohio colleges and universities have signed a petition approving present American foreign policy and urging that Dean Acheson remain in office as secretary of state.

The petition bears the names of 875 college faculty members from across the nation.

The petition reads in part: "So advanced and imaginative (our foreign policy) is in comparison with policy of earlier years as to appear like the dramatic reversal of earlier American tradition."

"Mr. Acheson's principal difficulties are not of his making. They are a product of confusion at home and mighty forces of upheaval, combined at crucial power centers with evil, abroad."

The Ohio colleges, with the number of signers are: Ohio State, 42; Miami, 28; Western Reserve, 16; Oberlin, 14; Cincinnati, 10; Kenyon, 9; Ohio University, 8; and Western College for Women, 1.

stores, florists and restaurants were the only kinds of Ohio retailers which failed to surpass 1949 volume, and in these stores the declines amounted to only five, two and one percent respectively, the Analyst reported.

City by city, the percentage comparisons for December, 1950, against December, 1949, and for the 12 months in 1950 as compared to the same months in 1949 were:

Akron, up 21 percent and up 12 percent; Canton, up 21 percent and up 11 percent; Cincinnati, up four percent and up 10 percent; Cleveland, up 23 percent and up 11 percent; Columbus, up six percent and up nine percent; Dayton, up 12 percent and up 17 percent; Toledo, up 16 percent and up eight percent; Youngstown, up 20 percent, and up 15 percent.

ACCUSTOMED AS THEY ARE to meeting newcomers to their family, seven of her children are nevertheless fascinated as Mrs. Erma Griser, 36, of Pitcairn, Pa., introduces them to their 14-pound baby sister—the 18th child in the family. Mrs. Griser is the mother of four sets of twins and one set of triplets. Her oldest child is fourteen. (International)

Ohio Assembly May Write Law On Drunkenness

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—When is a man drunk?

The Ohio Legislature was asked to decide the question today by two Columbus Republican representatives, Sam Devine and Kline Roberts.

They introduced a bill which would make evidence of alcohol in the blood stream admissible in a court in cases where the charge was drunken driving.

Their bill proposed that, in a test to be taken within two hours of the time of the alleged offense, 5-100ths of one percent or less of alcohol, by weight, would be the determining factor. If more than that were found in the blood, the result would be "relevant testimony," and if the percentage were 15-100ths or more, it would be prima facie evidence that the driver was intoxicated.

Two Easement Suits Settled

Two suits seeking easements across lands in Pickaway County have been settled and dismissed, according to common pleas court records.

The suits were filed against Miriam R. and Paul Adkins of Circleville Route 1 and against Florence E. Ludwig of 360 East Mound street, Maud E. Roof of 125 South Pickaway street and Rose O. and Robert Walters of 465 North Court street.

The firm sought the easements for installation of an electric transmission line.

Ohio House OKs Garbage Law

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1—By a narrow four-vote margin, the Ohio house of representatives yesterday passed and sent to the senate a bill permitting rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons dumping garbage along a highway.

The vote was 72 to 47, with 68 votes needed for passage.

Opposition to the measure was led by Rep. Ray Carpenter (R-Seneca), who declared it was an "informers bill" which threatened to "make enforcement of the law a commercial or financial proposition."

The late Louis Napolitan, author, artist and hair stylist, had his hands insured for $1,000,000. He invented the upsweep hair style.

Record Solo Flight Is Made Across Atlantic

LONDON, Feb. 1—Capt. Charles Blair, who made a record solo non-stop flight yesterday from New York to London, planned an immediate return to the United States today aboard a regular transatlantic airliner.

Blair, a veteran transatlantic pilot of Pan American Airways, is leaving his own Mustang fighter plane in England for a check-up by Rolls-Royce engineers.

The Port Washington, N. Y.,

flier, made the New York to London hop in seven hours, 48 minutes, clipping one hour and seven minutes from the commercial plane speed record.

Blair, who had hoped to complete the flight in an even seven hours, said he experienced one frightening moment. That occurred while he was flying at 31,000 feet and his oxygen mask slipped.

He said: "I went kind of woozy, but knocked it back in time."

He said he felt it hardly fair to draw any comparison between his flight and that of

Charles Lindbergh from New York to Paris. Blair said:

"No one admires his flight more than I do. He took 33 hours and 30 minutes in his 'Spirit Of St. Louis,' but that was back in 1927."

"I had more instruments aboard than he did. I suppose he had only a primary oil pressure gauge, a banking indicator and compass."

ETAOIN SHRDLU.
ETAOIN Shrdlu is perhaps the best known comic character in the American press. With all puckishness, he pops up in the most unexpected places and at the most inopportune times, always to be widely applauded for his incomparable drolery. So it may be of interest to know what his origin is.

He is popularly believed to be the result of some mechanical error on the part of the Linotype machine. This is thought to slip a cog, or some other dido, and thus bring him into being. This is incorrect. He is the result of an error, not on the part of the machine, but on the part of the operator.

What happens is that the operator makes some kind of slip so that he does not want to complete the line he is working on. But the innerworks of the linotype machine are such that a line must have a certain amount of letters dropped into it before it can be sent into the mold to be cast.

So the operator feeds it letters as quickly as he can by running his finger down the bank of keys in front of him, expecting to throw out the faulty line when it has come from the mold, but sometimes forgetting to do so.

The keys are arranged in this order:
e s c v x
t h m b z
a r f g fi
o d w k fl
i l y q ff
n u p j ..

So it can easily be seen that when he runs
his fingers down the first two rows, etain shrdlu stands a good chance of getting into the paper, and that if a few more letters are needed, and the operator starts into the third bank, etain will have a few honorary degrees to his name.

Etain Shrdlu is 66 years old, having been born in 1885 on the same day as the Linotype machine.

New Jersey man has obtained a divorce
after waiting 33 years for his wife to return

women that men can be given the aloof treatment too long.

Appearing in a television show Margaret Truman sang, played the piano and danced. Either she is a very talented young woman or she is trying to confuse the critics.

Young women are fighting with Chinese may develop into a coed war.

MARCH OF EVENTS

No Defender of Europe
Faced Eisenhower's Odds

Ike Man for Big Job,
Say Military Observers

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—As Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower sets up his unified command for the 12 North Atlantic Treaty nations, the consensus of opinion here among careful followers of the military situation is that while the great World War II leader in the European theater faces the most exasperating task of his career, he is cast in a role that gives him a high probability of success.

He is the man for the job, they say, because like all leaders called to the fore by a crisis, which unites divergent elements, he has to be a combined diplomat and general.

Some already are comparing him with the Duke of Wellington, because when Wellington faced Napoleon at Waterloo it was a return-to-arms assignment for him, and he had to rally allies who in the peace efforts after Napoleon's original defeat had begun to fight among themselves.

Both men, when called to their supreme assignments already had become living legends. "Can he repeat a success?" they asked on all sides about Wellington. To make the historical parallel all the more striking, Wellington assembled his force at Brussels, exactly the same place where the delegates of the Atlantic nations summoned
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Leaders of the assorted forces against a great external threat have the hardest kind of job, but it has been the verdict of history that they have almost invariably been successful in defending Europe against invading hordes.

A goodly portion of the 15 decisive battles of the world selected by Sir Edward S. Creasy, military historian, have been fought under precisely those circumstances. At the last moment a leader was called to the helm of disorganized and ill-prepared European forces.
Wellington is just one example. Another was the Italian general,

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

Loyalty is not a debatable question. No society can tolerate disloyalty to itself;
otherwise it would decay from the vileness of its own members. Therefore, every government rejects the right of a traitor to be a traitor, even though, in a free society, the individual may claim freedom of thought and action. In old-fashioned wars, which were genteel to a degree, the spy
and traitor performed unmistakable functions and therefore his labors could be readily evaluated and his character judged.

Recognizing these postulates as basic, it is not remarkable that such strong efforts have been put forth over the years to conceal, to cover up, to protect treason and traitors. The politicians in office, seeking only their private advancement, lack the knowledge to recognize modern treason for what it is. Modern treason is a non-military activity, performed constantly and unrelated to the time limits of a state of war.
The Dies Committee, shabbily treated even by the Democratic Party of which Congressman Dies was a member, laid the foundation for a technique of discovering treason in peacetime. Every effort was made by the administration, from the very start, to give to that committee the appearance of the ridiculous.

The Dies Committee performed an outstanding service to this country because it laid the foundation for a study of Marxist infiltration into American life. Its files are basic for any understanding of this problem; its reports remain the best source material for any study of treason as a continuous operation.

Parnell Thomas, long before he got into trouble over a salary kickback, was most viciously attacked, and I am not sure yet that he was not punished so severely for an infraction not as unusual as it may seem, because he headed an anti-Communist investigative committee.

The current House Committee on UnAmerican Activities has done some important investigating, but it has also missed most of the available opportunities. In fact, it is this committee that should have investigated the Amerasia case which definitely involved treason, treachery, deceit, cover-up and dishonorable politics. It was because this committee failed to pursue the penetration and infiltration of the State Department and the Treasury by Communists that Senator Joe McCarthy stepped into the arena with his charges. This committee must now be regarded as inadequate.

The Tydings Committee made an altogether fruitless attempt to discover disloyalty within the government. In fact, it sought to try McCarthy with a view to his political destruction. The motives of Senator Millard Tydings have never been clear nor are they important. The fact is that his committee covered up and white-washed disloyalty.

Now the Senate has appointed the Mc-Carran committee and provided it with initial funds to start all over again to root out disloyalty in government. The intentions of Senator Patrick McCarran are excellent, and should he find an adequate staff of well-oriented counsel and investigators, he could get at the roots of disloyalty.

DIET AND HEALTH
Infection of Bone Marrow

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
ONE disease whose outlook has been entirely changed by the discovery of the antibiotic drugs,
such as penicillin, is osteomyelitis or infection of the bone marrow.
In former years this was truly a dreadful disorder, requiring months and even years to heal, and resulting in much pain and crippling. Today, if promptly diagnosed and properly treated, it can readily be cured in time to prevent widespread damage to the bone. For this result, however, the disorder must be recognized early.

Infection Wound
The infection may reach the bone from an infected wound or a boil. In other cases, the germs may be brought to the bone through the blood stream from an infection elsewhere in the body. Children are the most frequent victims of this disorder, and pain, which rapidly becomes severe and throbbing, is its first symptom.

The affected leg or arm is held in a bent position. Depending upon the severity of the infection,
the child may also have fever,
look sick and feel sick. The number of white cells in the blood is greatly increased. Early in the disorder, X-ray does not show any changes; however, as bone destruction continues, the affected area can be seen in the X-ray plate.

The type of treatment to be used will depend upon how early it is started. To begin with, the youngster must always be kept at complete rest and given plenty of fluids, if necessary by injection into a vein. The pain may be relieved by proper drugs. Injections of whole blood into a vein may also help in building resistance.

Resistant to Penicillin
Of the antibiotic drugs, penicillin is usually tried first. If the germs causing the infection are resistant to penicillin, then one of the other antibiotics should be employed, such as streptomycin or aureomycin. The sulfonamide drugs are also of value in those cases in which the germs are resistant to the penicillin.

Surgical treatment is necessary in some cases, particularly after pus has formed which cannot otherwise be drained.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A.B.M.: What treatment should be given for a sinus ailment that has occurred for 46 years?
Answer: In chronic sinus infection, a solution containing adrenalin or ephedrin dropped into the nose may give temporary relief.
In most cases, however, it will be necessary to have the infected material in the sinuses pumped out with a suction pump or to have the sinuses washed out. In cases where the infection continues, a more radical type of operation may be required.

This condition should always be treated under the direction of the physician. An effort should be made to build up the general health and strength by means of fresh air, sunshine, rest and sleep, and by taking cod-liver oil.

Recently, various forms of arosol penicillin have been found helpful in treating this condition;
this is penicillin in the form of a mist, vapor or dust.

It would be well to consult a

The annual competition of a midwest Liars Association was captured after a terrific battle by a hunter who described how his bird dog one day began running in a 40 foot circle, working toward the center. Suddenly the dog froze. The hunter yelled,
"Flush." A single quail fluttered up into the air and everybody shot at it. A second and third time the hunter yelled "flush."
On each occasion, a single quail flew off as a target. Finally a guest demanded an explanation.
"This here dog of mine is trained mighty fine," admitted the hunter. "When he circled, he ran all those quail down a gopher hole. He's got his foot over the hole, and he releases a single bird every time I holler."

"Serene."
"What? No! Wonderful Serene, fatal and terrible."
"It was an old family name, I believe. You really must see the portrait; the bonnet, the bustle and the parasol. And that smile."
"You must see Garthwin's."
"Oh, I often have; Olympian."
"Have you ever seen her wife's?"
She had a bonnet, and a bustle, and a parasol, too. But—it doesn't seem fair."
"I didn't think I should ever be laughing at all this."
"Best thing in the world for you, but we must get back to the grimmer side of it again before we drop it for tonight. Who among the Coldfields needed a substantial sum of money about a year ago? The deal was swung in England last March."
"I don't know. I do know that none of them went abroad."
"Remember that we've definitely decided on an agent. And what a trusted one! Who among the Cold-always look uncomfortable when you're deceiving me," said Gamadge. "I can find out by elim-

Not Ames, you think."
"Mr. Gamadge, how can I guess wildly?"
"Easy. Let's see—Ira isn't making much money, and he's in a business where money is always welcome. Doesn't fill the bill? Too much family piety?"
"I can't imagine Ira—"
"Susan is marrying all kinds of money—"
"And they give her everything."
"Your sister-in-law; not a Coldfield, and she leads her own life.
Can she do that on her housekeeping allowance? Ah, she's the one."
"It's only that she's always complaining about wanting more,
but she wouldn't know anything about those letters. She hasn't the knowledge, or the interest—"
"Never underestimate the frivolous.
They can do things that would amaze you. Well, I'm inclined to agree with you—that's a dead end for the present. Now about the poisonings—and I may remark that it was splendid news for the poisoner, that you'd come home from Dalgren's to accuse someone unspecified of homicidal mania.
You didn't know a thing. I bet

Foremost Sentimental Holiday--Valentine's--Brings Few New Fads

It Started With Beheading

With the year's foremost sentimental holiday only two weeks away, Pickaway women and girls are thinking about the gifts they hope to receive from and the present they will be buying for the man in their life as a token of their love.

Recent research into the origin and meaning of Valentine's Day has turned up some interesting and revealing information on this subject so close to the hearts of all women.

From one St. Valentine's Day to another, there have been new love songs, new love stories, and, of course, new lovers. Yet the historical survey has shown there is nothing new in love!

To support their belief-or-not thesis, researchers recently asserted that:

Lovers today are not as modern as they think. They are merely re-enacting rituals as old as Dan Cupid himself.

The proof of this lover's paradox, they say, lies in the obvious parallels of courtship customs old and new. For example: the present-day custom of carving symbols on trees began in ancient Greece. Lovers then as now entwined their initials in a symbol of "eternal love."

Valentine cards themselves have gone through a sort of fantastic evolution, the report continues. Tradition holds that Valentine's Day got its name from a young Roman priest beheaded Feb. 14, 270 A. D., for refusing to renounce Christianity. In prison, he composed a farewell message to his young friend, the jailer's blind daughter, signing it "From your Valentine."

During the next 1,000 years Valentines remained strictly messages of friendship. Then, after attaining great popularity as lover's missives during the Middle Ages, they fell into disrepute.

Later generations, with the generous help of one Dan Cupid, have made Valentines an integral part of America's love life. Consequently, sweethearts everywhere will exchange colorful Valentines again this year—unaware, perhaps, that the custom they have enjoyed since childhood began in a Roman jail nearly 1,700 years ago.

Other findings of the survey help to compound the irony of these nothing-new-in-love charges.

For one thing, the current vogue of knitting argyle socks or sweaters for one's sweetheart is a new fad, either. It is probably the modern counterpart of an early Scandinavian tradition which held the bride-to-be must make the groom's bridal shirt with her own hands. This insured happiness for their marriage.

While in ancient Ireland, a man would give a bracelet woven of human hair to his betrothed, thereby linking her to him for life. Today, he gives jeweled or metal bracelets to be worn on the ankle or wrist.

It is probably safe to say that a girl's favorite day-dreams concern her future husband. "What will he be like?" is an eternal question. To even the very tender-aged, his social and financial status are of prime importance. Remember how young girls count off their buttons with:

Rich man, poor man,
Begger man, thief;
Doctor, lawyer,
Merchant, chief.

At whatever word the buttons run out, the profession of her future mate is foretold.

They did something like that down in Central America before the Spanish Conquest. The question of a young maiden's fortune in marriage could be put before a tribal diviner. He would throw beans of colored beans or maize on the ground, and then interpret the question from the num-

Rainbow Hairdo Is Next, Girls

BOSTON, Feb. 1 — Rainbow hairdos for stylish gals in 1951 were predicted today at the trade and style show of the Massachusetts Cosmetologists Association.

The prediction came from Hair Stylist Thomas Colesant. He didn't call them rainbow hairdos, but said brunets will be in for reddish tints and blondes will accent their tresses with streaks of other tones.

ber of grains and the position in which they fell.

However, the profession of her spouse-to-be is not a girl's only interest. If some supernatural power will offer a glimpse of his face, so much the better.

In medieval England, it was believed that a young girl could achieve that end if she would eat the white of a hard-boiled egg on St. Valentine's Eve, fasten five bay leaves to her pillow, and then go to sleep without speaking to anyone. The modern Miss slips a piece of wedding cake beneath her pillow, hopeful of dreams that will reveal the face of her future help-mate.

On the Argentine pampas, traditional fiestas were held at which the gauchos vied with one another in improvising verses. The most clever, of course, would win the hearts of the eligible señoritas.

Yes, love does have a past all its own. And lovers are not as modern as they think. But on Wednesday, Feb. 14, the nation's sweethearts will be exchanging Valentines with all the enthusiasm of new discoverers.

Strapless Gown On Way Out, Stylist Says

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 1—Edith Head, ace fashion stylist in Hollywood, claims that the day of the strapless gown is over.

"Men are tired of watching their women tugging at the upper part of their frocks," declares the stylist. "Besides, the off-the-shoulder outfit makes women uneasy. They can never relax because of the constant fear that there may be an accident."

The noted designer says that the strapless dress presents the same problem, in reverse, that the girdle does. It used to be that a girl only had to worry about adjusting her girdle. Today, she is doing the same thing with her dress. And if she is wearing both, she is a very busy gal indeed.

Miss Head thinks that the solution to the whole thing is in the single strap dress.

"The single strap gown is just as provocative and revealing as the strapless," Miss Head claims. "More important, it gives a girl a sense of security."

Congressional Committee Seeking Regular Reports

The joint Congressional committee on reduction of federal expenditures has issued a report calling for regular reports of federal owned real estate and for control and allocation of federal office space in emergencies by a single agency.

PURPOSE OF THE report is to be "helpful to committees of Congress and departments and agencies of the executive branch which, in the semi-war-economy and preparedness buildup, are concerned with the conservation of office and related-use space and its cost through maximum utilization and effective distribution."

Facts and findings in the report may be summarized as follows:

1. Federal departments and agencies before the Korean war were occupying a quarter of a billion square feet of office space spread out through nearly every community in the United States.
2. More space was excluded from centralized government-wide records of the General Services Administration than was reported to them.
3. The GSA found space in federally owned buildings outside of Washington to be "practically nonexistent;" that privately owned space "was not to be had in large or moderate sized cities;" and that "practically all space in first class office buildings under construction has been spoken for by private interests."
4. Prices for rent were found

Workers Shun Liner Batory

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Liner Batory returns to Poland today with the barnacles still encrusted on her bottom because of the refusal of CIO shipyard workers to work on the vessel. The liner on which Gerhardt Eisler fled from American justice to Communist East Germany steamed into the Todd Shipyards in Brooklyn yesterday for a painting and scraping job. None of the 300 workers would touch the vessel though and the Batory left for her pier on the North River.

THEY PIN-POINT ATTACKS

'Mosquito Pilots' Lauded For Daring Korean Jobs

IN KOREA, Feb. 1—When they write the history of Fifth Airforce feats in Korea they will have to reserve a spot high on the list for the war's intrepid "mosquito pilots."

These are the boys in the vest pocket-size planes who virtually take the glamor boys of the fighter-bombers and the jets by the hand and lead them to the enemy.

In a manner of speaking, the "mosquito boys" provide a sort of aiming point for the hail of small arms fire and flak that is sure to come when the fighters make their pitch.

The mosquito pilots, who fly their T-6s anywhere, anytime, reached a milestone the other day.

First Lt. James R. Topping of Lawrence, Kan., set down on a forward United Nations airstrip and thus logged the unit's 20,000th hour of combat in Korea.

OFFICIALLY, Topping's outfit is the 147th Tactical Control Squadron. Its job is controlling the Fifth Airforce fighters on strikes against the enemy.

The squadron was born July 9 when Lt. Col. J. R. Murphy at Taejon lifted a weary head from Airforce sortie charts and said: "This has been the Airforce's best day in Korea yet."

Murphy's words provided hope when the North Koreans still were rocking small American and Rok (Republic of Korea) units back on their heels.

Earlier that same day, an idea conceived by Lt. Col. Latiolias of Fifth Airforce Operations was put into practice.

Close support—closest possible support—was needed and in a hurry.

It was a hot and sultry day—but there was plenty of daylight.

Captains Jim Bryant of Montgomery, Ala., and Frank Mitchell of Hollywood took their tiny L-5s over the lines and, evading attacking enemy Yaks, guided 20 flights of jets into charging tanks and Red troops. They also plotted frontline dispositions, which proved of invaluable use later.

The next day, 17 Red tanks were knocked out near Chonui by F-80 Shooting Stars under the air control of Bryant and Mitchell.

LT. COL. MERRILL H. Carlton of Newhall, Cal., soon took command of the embryo unit, picking up the name "mosquito" and also seven new officers, three enlisted men, and a truckload of equipment.

An outfit that did not exist on the books "chartered" itself under the wings of its planes at the Taejon airstrip.

It was then, too, that such men as Technical Sergeant Harry Ragoshke of Milford, Conn., a crew chief, came into their own.

Ragoshke and his mates kept the frail-looking planes flying with salvaged parts from crack-ups and with wire and rubber bands.

The small maintenance crew worked around the clock transferring from plane to plane—and the squadron's pilots kept pace by flying two, three and four missions a day.

From the ninth of July to the end of that month, the small group of pilots flew 269 sorties, piling up 670 hours over the front.

It was an odd compliment when an English-speaking North Korean prisoner said the thing he feared most was "the damned little planes."

Pilots like Capt. John Planirac of North Braddock, Pa., and First Lt. Wayne Uphill of St. Clair Shores, Mich., risked their necks at zero altitude in the Hamchang area spotting enemy camouflage by "different colored leaves" and directing repeated attacks against a huge Red tank column.

COMMENDATIONS and compliments poured into the little squadron from the 24th Division and from the Rok army. As a result, Carlton's boys shortly were given official status, picking up administrative, intelligence, engineering and maintenance and supply sections along the way.

Carlton, recalling those days, said: "At long last, I got my own pencil sharpener—even though I still had to borrow the pencil."

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commanding general of the Fifth Airforce, has had only words of praise for Carlton's and other mosquito outfits which have been organized since those early days.

Every time a jet fighter dives in and blows up a Korean hillside or neutralizes some other enemy ground position, a good share of the credit must go to the boys in the paper-thin scout planes who brought the jets home to the target.

Walnut Council Lists Three Major Topics

Walnut Advisory Council recommended improved machinery, insect and pest control and combat of animal diseases as the three best topics for research during a recent meeting in the home of Martin Cromley.

Other research topics recommended by the Walnut group were getting food facts to the consumer, how to cut the difference between farm and city prices, better facilities for college short courses for farm boys and Winter short courses for adults.

Ira Hoover presented a review upon "Our City Cousin," during the meeting, while Olive Plum discussed the school district organization in Ohio.

Nation's Ag Setup Is Tops, Brannan Says

CLEVELAND, Feb. 1—Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan believes that American agriculture is in a "far sounder" position to meet any demands than ever before.

Brannan pointed out, however, that "it would be a great error if the nation allowed its potential for food and fiber production to be curtailed because of inadequate power supplies."

The agriculture secretary was in Cleveland to address the annual convention of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

He added: "One does not need to be a public power booster to recognize that the areas of our country where the farmers have the cheapest power, and where they use the largest quantities of it,

Gotham's Soot 'Export' Noted

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Dr. Wallace E. Howell, New York's official rainmaker, says the city's biggest "export" is soot.

The meteorologist said that at least 340,000 tons of it rain down each year over a 40-mile area. Manhattan, he added, keeps only about 25,000 tons of its soot and the rest is distributed, mainly to Long Island, by the prevailing winds.

are generally those which have major federal power projects."

Brannan said the highest wholesale power rates are in the New England section, where there is no federal power development. He continued that "growing support of the St. Lawrence development project may yet change that picture."

Brannan said farmers now are using twice as much electricity as they did before World War II and that electricity had much to do with raising food production 40 percent in the last decade.

Two Countians Singing With Capital Group

Two Pickaway County musicians were to have left Thursday for a two-week performance tour with the Capital university men's glee club.

They are Edward Wolf Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wolf, of 237 East Mound street; and Ronald List, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther List of Circleville Route 1.

The local pair is to be a part of the 35-voice men's group in a tour which will reach as far west as Nebraska. Upon return to Columbus, the organization will stage a performance in Capital university Feb. 18.

Wolf is in his second year as a member of the vocal group, while List is beginning his first.

OUTLOOK GIVEN FOR 1951

Major Gains And Losses Told By Baseball Pilots

NEW YORK, Feb. 1 — The same baseball managers who three months hence may refuse to tell their mothers the correct time reacted with remarkable candor today in chronicling the joys and sorrows of building for the 1951 big league races.

Asked to list their biggest gains and most severe losses since the close of the 1950 season, many of the major league pilots began and ended with the military draft.

But there were notable exceptions. One National League manager, who will go unidentified here although he had no apparent objection to being quoted, listed as one of his "gains" a pitcher who had a miserable season in 1950.

"He will be better in 1951," the manager said, with indestructible logic, "because he can't be worse."

Another manager indicated that his club's greatest gain since 1950 was himself.

That was Charley Dressen, the new manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who will go to Spring training with essentially the same team the Dodgers fielded in 1950.

"THE BROOKLYN pitching staff is full of great possibilities," Dressen said, and added: "That is the department in which I feel I can do something for this Dodger club—pitching." Just to make it clear, he also said that if the Dodgers get any kind of pitching, "I do not see how anybody can get too close to us."

Hopes were not everywhere so

Minnesota's Governor Proud Of Wes Fesler

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1 — Minnesota's governor, Luther Youngdahl, just can't help talking about the University of Minnesota's new football coach, Wesley Fesler, former Buckeye mentor. Youngdahl boasted about the new acquisition yesterday when he visited the Ohio General Assembly with the Buckeye State's Gov. Frank J. Lausche and he praised Fesler in a brief talk to dinner guests of a Columbus sportsmen's club.

At the legislature, he said that it was "all my life is worth to visit Ohio after the Fesler situation."

The Buckeye mentor resigned from Ohio State to enter private business—then signed up with Minnesota at $1,000 a year less salary.

The governor was to say a few words at the silver anniversary of the Agonis Club last night and ended up with a rousing ovation. He said:

"No matter how many games Wes Fesler wins, he'll do well. We of Minnesota think of him in a particular sense—as just a man, a thoroughbred of his kind, a true gentleman."

2 FBI Men Due To Try Burning Out Gehrmann

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—The FBI plans to "double team" Don Gehrmann in Saturday night's Boston AA Hunter Mile.

Fred Wilt, the flying G-Man who has been unable to catch Gehrmann in five tries, will get some aid from another G-Man, Horace Ashenfelter of the Boston bureau.

Ashenfelter, a two-miler by trade, is stepping down a notch to help Wilt. Horace figures to set a gruelling three-quarters pace in order to "burn out" Gehrmann and discount the Wisconsin miler's tremendous last lap kick.

Ashenfelter hopes to do a three-quarters of 3:05. But a 3:06 six furlongs in last week's Wana-maker Mile failed to stop Gehrmann. Don won his 36th straight race in 4:07.5, the fastest time of his career.

Also in the Hunter field will be Ireland's John Joe Barry and Sweden's Ingvar Bengtsson.

Blackbirds Defeated Again

MANHATTAN, Kas., Feb. 1—Coach Clair Bee of the Long Island university basketball team might hate to admit it, but there is no place like home.

The Blackbirds, champions of Madison Square Garden, and winners of 15 home games, were overwhelmed, 85 to 65, by Kansas State here last night.

The defeat was Long Island's third in four games on its current westward trip. The University of St. Louis is the next away - from - home obstacle for Bee's Blackbirds, Saturday night.

Tiger-Lion Cage Game Pondered

Friday night's Circleville-Washington C. H. basketball game has not been cancelled —yet.

However, Circleville Coach Dick West and Washington officials are keeping in close contact. West said Thursday: "We will huddle tomorrow (Friday) morning and make a final decision. If we decide we cannot play in Washington tomorrow night, the game will be rescheduled for next Tuesday night."

11 Thoroughbreds Going To Post In Lush Maturity

ARCADIA, Cal., Feb. 11—Eleven thoroughbreds will go to the post Saturday in the Santa Anita Maturity with a purse of more than $200,000, making it the richest horse race in the history of the sport.

The classy four-year-olds will vie over the mile and one-quarter distance for a staggering gross of $203,700. If the winner is California-bred, an added $14,470 will be paid bringing the gross to $218,170.

The richest payoff to date was in the 1946 Santa Anita handicap won by War Knight. Owner Miss Ethel Hill pocketed $102,220 plus a $10,000 breeder's award.

The net to the winner Saturday will be a record $142,325. Place, show and fourth money in the maturity also will hit record proportions. The second horse wins $20,000; third horse, $15,000 and the fourth horse, $10,000.

Special nominating awards also will be offered with the nominator of the winning horse getting $5,000; second horse, $4,000; third horse, $3,000 and fourth horse, $2,000.

Top weight of 121 pounds has been assigned Next Move, entered with Bed O'Roses by Alfred Vanderbilt. Others expected to go postward are Lotowhite, Beau Max, Blue Reading, Last Round, Sudan, Akimbo and Grandfather.

Ike Williams Chalks Victory Over Cardell

DETROIT, Feb. 1 — World's Lightweight Champion Ike Williams today chalked up his fourth straight Motor City victory as a result of a technical knockout win over Vic Cardell of Hartford, Conn., a welterweight, last night.

Only 2,603 fans braved a near-blizzard to see Williams score his easy victory. Countless others watched the affair on television.

The fight was halted during the rest period between the eighth and ninth rounds. Cardell's left eye was completely closed. He had a cut under the right eye and his nose was bloody. Referee Morris Sherman decided Cardell had enough and awarded the fight to Williams.

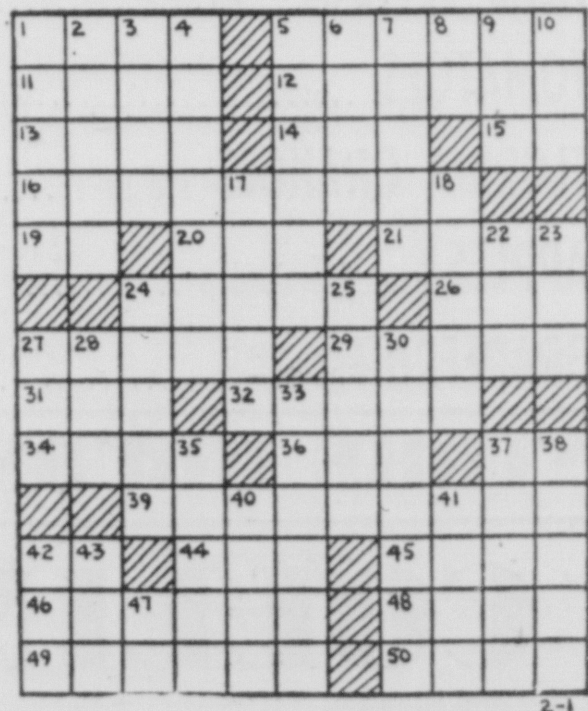

The lightweight champion was never troubled by the game youngster who was making his first, and probably last, appearance in Detroit.

The score cards of the officials tell the story simply. One judge gave Ike every round, another called the fifth round even and gave Williams the remainder. Referee Sherman called the fourth even, awarded Cardell the fifth and gave the rest to Williams.

Fishing Permits To Go On Sale About Feb. 15

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1 — Ohio anglers may expect to purchase fishing licenses for the 1951 season about Feb. 15. In some communities the licenses will be available before that date.

Harry West, chief of the accounting and budgeting section of the Department of Natural Resources, which issues the permits, has announced the first consignment of over 500,000 licenses is being sent to approximately 3000 agencies and license bureaus throughout the state.

With the exception of the liberalized lakes and streams, which are open the year round, the official 1951 fishing season will open March 1.

More than 130 lakes and seven streams are in the liberalized group, in which anglers may fish anytime and may keep all they catch regardless of size or number.

Once again fishermen will not be required to display their licenses on hats or clothing. They are required only to have the permits on their persons while engaged in fishing.

West said the 1951 fishing digests will be available at the sales agencies and urged fishermen to ask for them. The new digests contain a map designating the liberalized lakes and streams in the state.

The 1951 regulations are essentially the same as those in effect during the 1950 season. Several ponds and some areas in the Lake Erie district however have been added to the liberalized group.

'Green Light' Being Expected By Baseballers

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—Baseball looked forward to an anticipated "green light" from President Truman tomorrow on the 75th anniversary of the founding of the National League.

The chief executive, who will not be able to attend the birthday celebration in New York, will send a greeting which will be read by National League President Ford Frick.

It is expected that Mr. Truman will issue a friendly "go ahead in 1951" despite the national emergency.

Sixteen members of baseball's Hall Of Fame will be present for the ceremonies in New York's Broadway Central hotel.

Mayor Vincent Impellitteri is scheduled to make the dedication address and unveil the plaque commemorating the occasion.

Mel Ott, who was elected to the Hall Of Fame last week, will then make the response on behalf of the baseball greats.

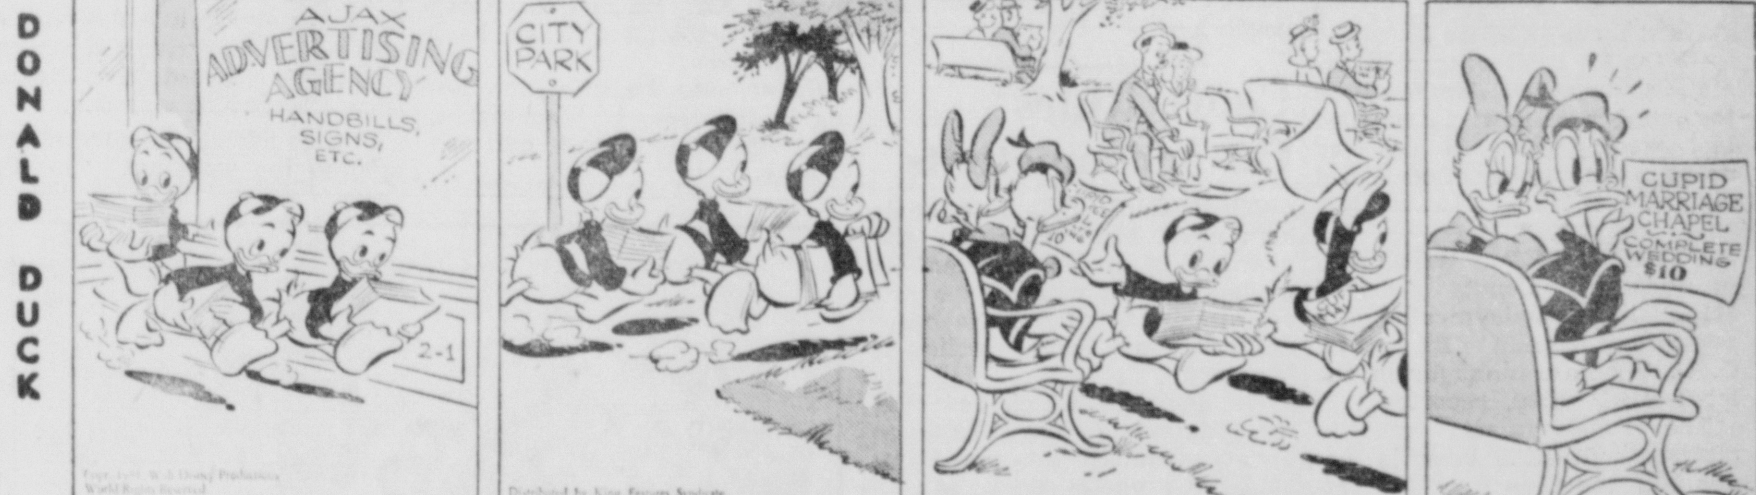

143 Entering Tucson Open

TUCSON, Feb. 1—A select field of 143 amateur and professional golfers tees off today in the first round of the $10,000 Tucson Open.

The four-day affair is the fifth stop on the rich Winter tournament circuit.

Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., shot a seven under par 63 yesterday to provide some heat to a chilly Tucson Open pro-amateur event.

Revolta turned in a best ball of 61 to tie for the pro-amateur honors with Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., and Al Touche of Tucson.

New, Continued Idle Pay Claims On Decline In County

1950 Total BUC Aid Set At $203,437

Average December Check: $22.25

Both new and continued claims for unemployment compensation declined in Pickaway County last week.

A statistical report prepared by the state Bureau of Unemployment Compensation shows that 18 new claims were filed here last week, compared to 27 the week before.

Continued claims dropped from 254 recorded for the week before last to 228 last week.

Throughout the state new claims dipped from 8,862 to 6,532, while continued claims skidded from 42,783 to 39,881.

Of the 82 BUC offices in the state 62 reported decreases in the number of new claims filed last week, while 56 reported drops in the number of continued claims.

UNEMPLOYED WORKERS in Pickaway County received $11,943 in unemployment compensation during December, C. C. Thomas, manager of the local BUC office, reported.

The total payments went to claimants drawing benefits under both the Ohio Law and veterans eligible for servicemen's readjustment allowances under the federal GI Bill of Rights, Thomas said.

Claimants drawing benefits under the Ohio Law received a total of $11,923. Of this amount, $835 was in dependence allowances received by claimants who were eligible for such payments.

The December unemployment compensation payments brought the total benefits paid through the Circleville BUC office since Jan. 1, 1950, to $203,437. The average weekly check paid to claimants in December was $22.25.

To avoid penalty and interest charges, employers of three or more persons subject to the Ohio Unemployment Compensation Law had until Wednesday to make their wage record reports and tax payments for the last calendar quarter of 1950, Thomas said.

Report forms were mailed to 79,498 Ohio employers covered by the law.

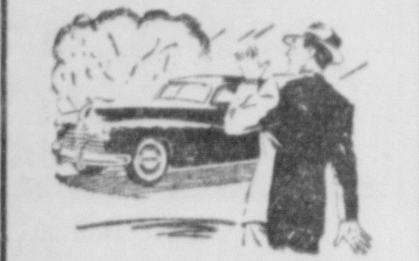

The Jan. 31 deadline also applied to employers of eight or more workers who are subject to both the Ohio and federal unemployment compensation laws.

BY MEETING this deadline, these employers avoided federal penalties and interest charges and received credit for their state tax payments as an off-set against their federal tax.

The quarterly report requires each employer subject to the law to list each of his employees by name, Social Security number, the number of weeks each worked and his total taxable wages. The report was to be accompanied by the employer's tax contribution for that quarter.

Extension Course Signup Booked Here Monday

A meeting to organize another Ohio university extension course here is scheduled for 7 p. m. Monday in Circleville high school.

A recent course in health is in process of being completed, awaiting results of final exams in the course.

Superintendent Frank Fischer said the extension course is usually taken advantage of by local teachers, although the last class included non-teachers interested in the health phase of the teaching.

Director J. Floyd Dixon of the university explained that professional literature and organization has been dropped from the extension curriculum, with additions of school finance and business administration and athletic officiating taking its place. Two hours credit are offered for each course.

Court Rules On Incompetents

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1 — Ohio's high court has held that the guardian of an incompetent is not authorized, without court permission, to change the beneficiary in an insurance policy of his ward.

The decision, which reversed the judgment of the Cuyahoga County appellate court and upheld the probate court, affects the estate of Susan Sellers, declared incompetent because of a stroke of apoplexy Dec. 27, 1947.

$3 Million Plant Ruined By Fire

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 1 — Sparks from a grinder were blamed today for a $3 million blaze which hit the Ohio National hydraulic lift plant here late Tuesday.

H. O. Day of Bowling Green, president and principal stockholder of the company, said plans will be made immediately to rebuild the plant which employs 150 workers.

Day said the loss included a $30,000 metal press ruined by the blaze. The plant was housed in a two-story cement and brick building.

Father Of 2 Asks Divorce

A divorce suit has been started in Pickaway County common pleas court by Engle M. Sparks against Anne Sparks.

His petition states they were married Aug. 12, 1944, on Widby Island, Washington. They have two children.

He accuses the wife, now living in the state of Washington, of gross neglect and extreme cruelty.

Doctor Believes Poor Diet Cause Of British Flu

LONDON, Feb. 1 — A noted Harley Street physician blames Britain's current influenza epidemic on protein starvation. He told the government "it will have the loss of countless lives on its conscience" unless the protein ration—meat, for instance—is increased.

In a letter to the magazine Medical Press, Dr. Nevil Leyton charged that the reason for the flu epidemic that has already claimed more than a thousand lives in Britain is "poor diet."

"Undoubtedly," he declared, "it lies in the continued very low amount of protein fat available for a great part of the population of this country."

Dr. Leyton said repeated warnings had been given that poor diet would inevitably produce something like the current epidemic which rivals a similar one that afflicted the British isles after world war one.

But, he added, the government ignored the warnings "so the consequences have now come to pass."

He said that Britons are not starving but added:

"Our diet is so unbalanced and so lacking in edible absorbable protein that the anti-body content of our bodies has fallen below the danger point."

Maybe The Cop Was A Dope

BOSTON, Feb. 1 — William Overton, 31, insisted that the policeman who arrested him on a charge of possessing dope was a dope. It seems now he has a case.

Judge Elijah Adlow was told the marihuana supposedly found in Overton's possession had been analyzed and found to be catnip.

Bar Suspends Fee Hearing

TOLEDO, Feb. 1—The Toledo Bar Association has suspended a hearing of charges against Municipal Court Judge Stanley Grzezinski because of his failure to appear before its grievance committee.

Grzezinski's lawyer appeared before the committee yesterday to read statements denying that the judge unlawfully accepted a $600 attorney fee while serving as judge, as charged by the association.

Committee Chairman Harley Watkins said the grievance committee would continue its investigation.
